THE SITUATION

Listings leave out what renters need to know.

Is it still available? What does parking really cost? Are dogs allowed? Renters chase agents one call at a time, and those agents work for the landlord.

WHAT LANDLINE IS

A voice agent that works for renters, not brokerages.

You talk for two minutes and hang up. Landline makes the calls and texts you what every agent said.

WHAT IT DOES

Talk, the map re-ranks

Budget, area, beds, a dog, in any language. The live map of Toronto re-ranks as you speak.

Calls them all at once

After you hang up, it phones every listing agent in parallel, and says it’s an AI assistant.

Asks what listings skip

Still available? What parking really costs, pets, light. It reads numbers back to confirm.

Books inside your times

The agent confirms from a texted link, and you both get a Google Calendar invite.

Every fact has a source

Results come by text, each in the agent’s exact words. Scam red flags are called out.

Knows the city

“How far is it from Cohere?” answered with Google Maps. It remembers what each agent said.
